ISHITA RAKSHIT

INTRODUCTION

I am Ishita Rakshit and I am a first year student of Asian Academy of Fashion and Telivision studying Animation Designing. My portfolio is a representation of all that I’ve learned and accomplished as a first year student. The designs in my portfolio show how my creative skill have evolved during the course.

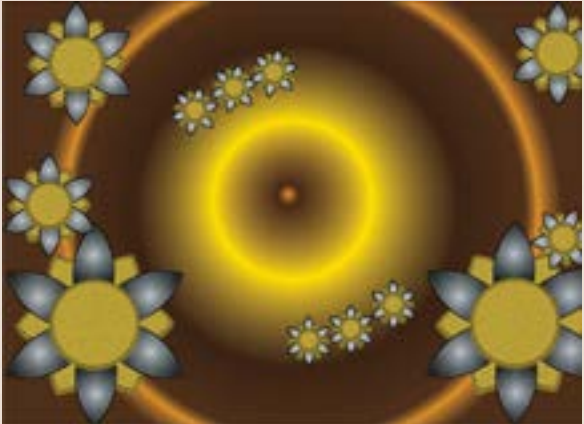

Thankyou.

PATTERNS

Patterns are nothing but repetition of designs.

THE FLORAL RING

This pattern includes warm color combinations in a ring shape with flowers.

MANDALA PATTERN

If you look closely this pattern is similar to mandala art which according to me makes it more interesting and attractive.

THE GIRAFFE

The pattern here is a simple one with combination of different shapes and colors.

SUMMERTIME

This pattern as shown has sunflowers and circles in it all with warm colors. This can be a good choice to use in summers.

MOCKUPS

A mockup is a static representation of a product, showing users and stakeholders how it may look and be used. It contains elements such as the typography, logos, images, color schemes, and navigation visuals that will make up the final design and user experience.

This mockup is a desk calendar. The purpose of using this mockup was to show my logo that I designed on ILLUSTRATOR for a floral shop.

The logo designed.

MOVIE POSTER & MATTE PAINTING

MATTE PAINTING

A WORLD FULL OF FANTASIES

As shown this is a movie poster that I designed. The name of the movie is “THE UNDYING: A BELSSING OR A CURSE?”

COFFEE TABLE BOOK

A large, expensive, lavishly illustrated book, intended especially for casual reading.

Here is a coffee table book that I designed on the topic: DOGS.

I also designed a MAGAZINE OUTLOOK on Ethnic Wear 2022.
